

Collaboration Software

Needing to be more organized and keep in better contact with your customers, employees, and partners? We only recommend five-star solutions to our customers, and our collaboration solution is truly cross-platform in that it will operate in a Windows, Linux, or Novell environment! Included is a licensing structure that is flexible and works for you, instead of against you, that includes email, calendaring, task lists, document management, secure instant messaging, contact management and more!

MSI understands your need to have a secure and reliable collaborative environment. Whether you need simple email, or full-featured collaboration software with calendaring, secure instant messaging, task management, contact management, document management and more—we truly have the five-star collaboration solution you are seeking!Email

Need the ability to share ideas and critical business information with virtually anyone - anytime, anywhere? Our email solution is secure, reliable, scalable, and saves you time and money! Why go another day without a dependable email solution in place? Contact us today!Calendaring

Looking for a calendar and scheduling tool to help keep you organized? We can setup a calendar and scheduling system custom tailored specifically for your requirements. Why wonder if a colleague is available for assistance, if you have a meeting in the afternoon, or if a conference room in your organization is available? Contact us today!Secure Instant Messaging

Need secure and real-time instant messaging functionality for your environment? No longer will you need to worry about insecure instant message communication, or the possibility of viruses penetrating your network due to vulnerabilities in instant messaging software. Why go another day without a secure instant messaging solution for your environment? Contact us today!Task and Contact Management

Do you need the ability to organize your customer and employee contact information or your personal task list? Task and contact management functionality is fully integrated into the collaboration environment for easy access. Why shuffle through numerous records or paperwork looking for phone numbers or tasks needing completed? Contact us today!Document Management

Looking for a system to manage and share files that is completely integrated with your collaboration software? We work with you to design a document management system that works specifically for your objectives and requirements. Why go another day without an effective means of archiving and sharing critical business documents? Contact us today!Additional Benefits

With our five-star collaboration solution, in addition to the features outlined above, you also receive the ability to access your email away from the office, full PDA support, Multi-level spam filtering, clustering support for high availability, and more! An overview of the business benefits you will receive immediately include:

- An increase in employee productivity with virtually no email downtime
- A lower cost of total ownership
- Compliance with regulatory requirements
- Reduction in hardware acquisition and management costs

Our five-star collaboration solution includes everything you need! Whether you have Windows, Linux, or Novell deployed in your environment—why wait another day to realize the benefits you receive with a full-featured collaboration solution? Contact us today!